

INVESTIGATORS MAY PASS ON CHARGES AGAINST DEMOCRATS

Stand Ready for Special Session; May Develop Before People Vote

"INTIMIDATE THE WPA"

Campaign Leaders in Penna. Found Guilty of Wholesale Intimidation

By International News Service
WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Having found Democratic campaign leaders in Pennsylvania guilty of wholesale intimidation of WPA employees to vote the Democratic ticket in Tuesday's election, the Senate campaign investigating committee today stood in readiness for a special meeting to pass upon charges of wrong doing, that may develop before the people vote.

Investigators, Chairman Morris Sheppard said, are busy running down charges of fraud and other violations of the law in Ohio, New Jersey, Illinois and Pennsylvania, and were also watching activities in North Dakota, Kentucky, Georgia, Illinois and Tennessee Senatorial campaigns. Taking sharp issue with statements by Deputy WPA Administrator Aubrey Williams, that reported complaints of wrong doing by WPA personnel in the Pennsylvania Senatorial race were unfounded, the Committee said investigators had found numerous instances there in which WPA workers were being coerced into voting the Democratic ticket.

The investigators in Pennsylvania had found:

1. That truck drivers for the WPA in Carbon County had been "maced" $100 for the Democratic campaign fund.
2. That many WPA workers in Luzerne County had been threatened with the loss of their WPA employment if they would not change their registration from Republican to Democrat.
3. That though Williams on October 24 issued a statement there was not a "scintilla" of truth in charges of corruption in the WPA in Pennsylvania, WPA employees in Luzerne County were soliciting for Democratic campaign contributions at the time Williams issued the statement.
4. That charges of Senator Davis, Republican seeking re-election, that twenty-three Pennsylvanians were threatened with loss of their WPA jobs if they would not register their vote Democratic, were sustained for questioning, and the affidavit signers, by County investigators.
5. That WPA workers were called upon in Hershey to buy a ticket for a "political rally" of Democrats, by officials of the WPA there.
6. That high school children were paid for WPA work for which they never did, presumably to influence the vote of their families.
7. That political clubs distributed cards to persons, entitling them to employment by WPA.

90th Anniversary Will Be Marked By Medical Society

The Bucks County Medical Society will observe its 90th anniversary this month.

Appropriate program is being outlined for the anniversary banquet which will be served in The Fountain House, Doylestown, on Wednesday, November 9th, at 6:30 o'clock.

Dr. Hugh Shields, Ridgefield, Conn., is to be the speaker; and guests of honor at the affair will be Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Buyers, Norristown, and Dr. and Mrs. Wilmer Krusen, Philadelphia.

Your Vote Is Secret

When Pennsylvanians go to the polls on Nov. 8, they will cast their ballots in utmost secrecy. Only the voter's own conscience goes with him into the voting booth.

No name or identifying mark legally may be placed on any ballot. None but the voter need know how he marked his ballot. None has the right to ask him.

Any person, regardless of his party registration, may vote for any party or any candidate he chooses. Straight party or split voting may be done, with every registered voter qualified to cast a ballot.

Business Men Plan For Christmas Season

Routine business was transacted last evening when the Mill Street Business Men's Association met in the Keystone Hotel, here, in regular monthly session. Edgar Spencer, president, was in charge of the meeting, which was very well attended.

One of the most important topics of the evening was the discussion of plans for the Christmas season. The association plans to map out its program much earlier this year. A general committee on arrangements for the affair was appointed last evening, including: David Norman, chairman; Abe Popkin, I. Wolson, John Hardy, J. S. Lynn, Edward Wallace, Marj Green, Edward Gallagher, Wesley Spencer, Thomas Profy, Robert C. Weik, L. Smith, Leon Plavin and Edgar Spencer. The chairman of this committee has called the first meeting for Tuesday evening at 9 p. m., at Profy's Radio Shop. At that time the program will be mapped out in detail.

John Hardy, chairman of the Hal Lowen Parade Committee, gave a report of the affair held Monday evening. He was very much pleased with the support that the different organizations and residents gave to the parade. With the same co-operation next year it is believed that the affair will be some twice the proportions of the current parade.

Other committee reports were heard and approved. R. C. Weik, chairman of the by-laws committee, reported progress.

YARDLEY COACH DENIES QUARREL WITH STEVENS

Mike Derrick Says Reports Published in Phila. and New York Papers Not True

GIVES HIS VERSION

YARDLEY, Nov. 4.—Mike Derrick, coach of Yardley High's six-man football team, today emphatically denied newspaper reports published yesterday that he had engaged in a fist fight with Bob Stevens, Lambertville High coach, following the game between the two schools on Wednesday.

As a matter of fact Derrick went over to Stevens' automobile and shook hands with him before the latter departed, saying, "That's the way things happen, and it's all over," then walked away, according to a spokesman.

There was quite a heated argument and discussion with the coaches and referee, Joe Diamanti, following the game, arising out of the time-keeper's failure to stop the watch following an incomplete pass on the last play of the game.

Here is Coach Derrick's version of the situation:

"Yardley had the ball on Lambertville's 30-yard line after they had marched down the field some 50 yards to place the ball in that position. At that time Lambertville led, 8-6 (which was the final score). It was second down with approximately 15 seconds to go before the game ended.

"Hugh Gannon, Yardley quarterback, threw a pass, which was incomplete near the goal line. I immediately turned to Stevens to ask him about the time, since Lambertville's score-keeper who was also keeping the time, was sitting next to Stevens, and I noticed he (Stevens) was watching the clock.

"Before Referee Diamanti could retrieve the ball and place it back on the 30-yard line, Stevens blew the whistle, signifying the game was over. Immediately I rushed toward Stevens and asked why time hadn't been taken out, contending that time was 'out' as soon as the pass was incomplete and the ball was snapped from the center—that is according, not only to regulation football rules, but also the six-man game as well.

"Stevens then consulted Referee Diamanti, who claimed 'The period was up and the game over, and that the time-keeper had erred.'

"When questioned, both Stevens and the time-keeper admitted that time had not been taken out throughout the entire game following an incomplete pass. 'Therefore,' Stevens said, 'why should time be taken out at the end of the game? Besides,' he stated, 'Yardley wouldn't have time to run off another play, anyway.'

"But that wasn't so. We could still run off at least two more plays during that time if the watch had been stopped as soon as the ball became 'dead.'

"During the discussion, fans from both sides yelled at the referee and coaches and tension was increasing. So Stevens told his boys to get into the car, and I told my players to stay back.

"But before Stevens left, I went over to his car, shook hands with him, and said, 'That's the way things happen, and it's all over,' then walked away."

Republican Workers Of Twp. Lower District Meet

CROYDON, Nov. 4.—An enlightening and helpful meeting for Republican committeemen, committeewomen, and other workers was held in Tryon's hall, here, Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Harry G. Frederick, committeewoman from the second district, Bristol Township Lower, presided, with 40 attending.

Questions were asked and answered, and general discussion of pertinent subjects took place.

Backroom Bosses Would Rule Jones

Philadelphia Inquirer, October 31, 1938

A Milquetoast in private life may be a pathetic figure. But a weakling, a meek and submissive straw-man, in a position of great public responsibility is a menace to the public good.

A puppet in the Governor's chair at Harrisburg, subject to the will and whims of self-seeking backroom bosses, could work unthinkable injury to this State and its people.

The candidacy of Charles Alvin Jones, the puppet pet of the Democratic bosses, is a threat to democracy. HIS ELECTION AS GOVERNOR WOULD MEAN THE ESTABLISHMENT IN PENNSYLVANIA OF GOVERNMENT BY A BOARD OF DIRECTORS, SELF-APPOINTED AND SELF-INTERESTED.

It would mean the relegation of the executive branch of government to the scrap-heap and the setting up of a political dictatorship headed by John L. Lewis.

The people of Pennsylvania must in their own interest look beyond the colorless candidacy of the Democratic nominee, beyond his absurdly noncommittal campaign speeches, beyond his Milquetoast characteristics, to the gang in the backroom—to the men who control Jones and who hope, through him, to control the government of Pennsylvania.

A weakling Governor would be bad enough, but a weakling dominated by John L. Lewis, Albert M. Greenfield, Matt McCloskey and Boss Guffey would be catastrophe.

The names of these Four Horsemen do not appear on the ballots in next week's election. They are not running for office. But they are seeking votes just the same.

EVERY VOTE CAST FOR THEIR MAN JONES IS A VOTE FOR LEWIS, GREENFIELD, MCCLOSKEY AND GUFFEY. IT IS IMPERATIVE THAT THE MEN AND WOMEN OF PENNSYLVANIA TAKE THAT FACT INTO THE VOTING BOOTHS WITH THEM ON NOVEMBER 8.

Charles Alvin Jones is just the front for the Board of Directors to whom Matt McCloskey long ago, on the word of Democratic leaders themselves, guaranteed control over appointments and contracts in case Little Alvin became Governor.

The Democratic candidate has had drilled into him one doctrine which has been his guiding star throughout his campaign. That is the doctrine of adherence to the policies and practices of the Governor whom he aims to succeed. Mr. Jones apparently has one aspiration, to make it possible for Pennsylvania to have four more years of Earle without having Earle as Governor; to have, continued and expanded, the ruinous consequences of the waste, mismanagement and super-taxation that have been the highspots of the Earle Administration.

That in itself is enough to turn the stomachs of the taxpayers whose pockets have been pillaged by the political plunderers at Harrisburg and the poor who have been forced to trade their political freedom for the dole. BUT PUPPET JONES HAS MADE HIS CANDIDACY FOR GOVERNOR IMPOSSIBLY REPUGNANT BY MAKING IT A RUBBER-STAMP FOR THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

To advance his strange ambition to be a straw-man Governor, Charles Alvin Jones has accepted the overlordship of the chairman of the Board, John L. Lewis. Bartering self-respect for votes, Jones has opened the door to Lewis, has allowed him to plaster the C.I.O. label on his back, has given the ruthless labor leader his long-awaited chance to climb to power in this greatest of industrial States.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Numerous Items of Interest About Activities of People Elsewhere in County

PERSONAL NEWS NOTES

A former member of the State Highway Patrol, who was located in Bucks county a few years ago, James J. Tooley, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant in the Pennsylvania Motor Police.

The elevation of Tooley, who is now located in Chambersburg, is one of six receiving such appointments. Eleven others have been named sergeants.

Among those promoted to first sergeant are Reese L. Davis, Bethlehem, former State Police officer, who was stationed in Doylestown several years ago.

Sergeant William Engle, of the Doylestown sub-station, is now working out of Troop D headquarters in Bethlehem. Corporal William Herman is in charge of the entire Doylestown sub-station at the present time.

Thomas Ross, a member of the Doylestown Centennial executive committee, said this morning he has received a letter from the Treasury Department announcing that the Centennial funds are exempted from taxation, on the ground that it was an educational project.

Donations to the fund will also be deductible from income tax.

Mrs. LeRoy Nixon, county president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, reported the state convention which was held in Williamsport last month, at the session of the Churchville W. C. T. U., held at the home of Mrs. Howard Leedom, Southampton.

Miss Mary Leedom was in charge of devotions, and Mrs. Frank Sauman read "If youth goes to the devil, whose fault is it?"

A Brazilian macaw is safe at the home of its master, J. Helfenstein Mason, on the Ford Hook Farms, near Doylestown, after enjoying freedom a few days ago.

The red bird, with long, bright tinted tail feathers, was seen in a tree by members of the Frantz family, near the Mason place.

For some time Mr. Mason talked, coaxed and pleaded with the feathered aristocrat to come down from the tree. He yielded at the rate of drops averaging ten or 15 feet, when suddenly he swooped like a hawk into another tree about 150 feet away.

Again Mr. Mason began cajoling the ritz looking parrot by throwing on the ground beneath the tree bits of apples and bread. The macaw, cocking his head first to one side and then to the other, looked skeptically at the food.

Bristol Women Attend Red Cross Rally Luncheon

More than 1600 workers, among whom were a number from Bristol, attended the Southeastern District Chapter American Red Cross rally luncheon in the Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia, yesterday.

With an enrollment of 150,000 including 20,000 active workers the Philadelphia chapter is the largest in the United States, Blackwell Newhall, chapter chairman, said. Propounding the slogan, "Join and Give," O. Howard Wolfe, roll call chairman, declared, "We must have higher bracket memberships or fall short of our aim of $275,000, the amount needed to carry on the work of the chapter."

Philip C. Staples, president of the Bell Telephone Co., delivering the principal address, said:

"A generous public takes the Red Cross as much for granted as do the beneficiaries of the Red Cross. I believe that the essential citizenship of our children would be improved if history said less of battles and more of the great sisterhood of Red Cross nurses."

"It is a consolation in a complicated society such as ours to be able to rely on an efficient agency like the Red Cross. Red Cross workers who will visit thousands of homes between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving asking funds are entitled to a swift hearing and a quick decision."

Miss Ethel Barrymore, currently appearing at a theatre, was a guest at the luncheon. She spoke briefly, recalling her girlhood in the city, and paid tribute to the Red Cross.

SCHOOL TAX COLLECTION LOW IN BENSELEM

Amount Received Last Month Totalled $4500, Less Than Half They Should Have Been

OTHER SCHOOL AFFAIRS

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Nov. 4.—Members of the Bensalem Township School Board, meeting in monthly session at the High School here last evening, learned that taxes collected for the past month totalled $4500, less than half the amount they should have been.

"All members were present with the exception of William Abel who is confined to his home in Bridgewater because of sickness. S. K. Faust, superintendent of schools, attended the meeting last evening, the first since his recent illness.

Routine committee reports were read by the various members. The treasurer's report was given by the secretary in Mr. Abel's absence. S. K. Faust gave the regular doctor's and nurse's reports.

The activities report indicated the regular Cornwells P. T. A. meeting will be held at the high school on November 17th. The varsity and the alumni teams will meet on the gridiron on November 19th. This will be followed by a dance at the high school in the evening. Announcement was also made that November 24th and 25th will be Thanksgiving holidays.

PLAN TRIP

The Catholic Daughters of America will conduct a trip to Trenton, N. J., Saturday morning to visit a dairy. Cars will leave the K. of C. Home, at 8:30 o'clock. All are invited to participate.

MINUS LICENSE, HUNTER PAYS $20 FINE AND COSTS

Phila. Young Man Denies He Was Gunning; Officers Informed by Phone He Was

HE HAD A HOLIDAY

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 4.—A Philadelphia hunter paid a fine of $20 and costs of prosecution, here, Tuesday, when charged with hunting without a real-estate hunter's license. Hearing took place before Justice of the Peace W. Carlisle Hobensack.

The defendant was Thomas J. Parise, 3008 N. 21st street, Philadelphia. Parise informed the officers that he had a holiday from the school he attended, it being a saint's day.

He was arrested by Deputy Game Protector George W. Freas, Horeham.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1938, by The Baltimore Sun)

Mr. Browder Speaks Again

Washington, Nov. 3.

IT was rather a break for the President that so little publicity attended the Tuesday speech of Mr. Earl Browder, head of the Communist party, defending Mr. Roosevelt against his enemies and urging Communists to vote the Democratic ticket so as to bring about complete unity of the "liberal forces."

THE truth is that this steady, unswerving and whole-hearted support which the Communists have given, and are giving, to Mr. Roosevelt, to his New Deal policies and to his New Deal candidates, is a source of acute embarrassment to the New Dealers, from the President down. The reason is easy to understand. If there is anything certain about the people of this country, it is that the great mass of them are anti-Communist.

The steady adherence of the Communists to Mr. Roosevelt, despite rebuffs, repudiations and even denunciations, is one of the really significant things about the present political period.

NOTHING the New Dealers do seems to diminish the affection of these unwanted supporters. The more they kick this dog in the face, the more persistently it follows them. Recently Governor Lehman indignantly rejected proffered Communist support, but he has got it just the same. He can't get away from it. No New Deal candidate can. Two days before Mr. Roosevelt is to deliver his speech in behalf of Governor Lehman, the head Communist comes out in denunciation of the "Roosevelt haters," begging his friends to vote solidly for the Democratic candidates. A few months ago the Daily Worker, official organ of the Communists, printed this trenchant paragraph: "Let us make sure that the President's program is enacted as it stands. It is a fine beginning. Let's pass it, and then go on from there."

TO ALL intents and purposes, the Communist party has withdrawn its own candidates (Mr. Browder said so on Tuesday night), relegated its own policies and program to the rear and solidified itself behind Mr. Roosevelt and the Roosevelt policies. None of the New Deal leaders is a Communist, but all Communist leaders have become New Dealers—for the time being. There can be no denial of that. The evidence is too clear. Considering the anti-Communist feeling to vote the Democratic ticket so as to bring about complete unity of the "liberal forces."

Reports Presented To Sorosis at Langhorne

LANGHORNE, Nov. 4.—The November business meeting of Sorosis, in the library yesterday afternoon, included various reports which were followed by addresses by two guests.

Mrs. Harry Williams, Jr., was the presiding officer, and reports included that of the conference held recently at Wood School, given by the education chairman, Mrs. Philip Lewis; announcement of a rummage sale by the welfare committee, in the Memorial House, November 12th; and all-day forum in the library on November 10th. The forum, at the morning meeting, will be addressed by Mrs. John D. Gill, of Bala-Cynwyd, this being in charge of the International Relations committee, and the afternoon speaker will be Mrs. Charles Burroughs, Trenton, N. J., whose subject will be "The Wearing of Flowers." The Garden Section will be in charge of the latter program.

Reports of the Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs, meeting here in Fall session, last week, were given by Miss Dorothy Rothermel and Mrs. Roscoe Horner.

The program of the day was presented by the legislative committee, of which Mrs. Thomas Jones is chairman. Mrs. Reese, of the New Century Club, Philadelphia, told of the legislative meetings planned on the fourth Monday of each month by her club. Mrs. Heldt, speaking on legislation, told that women should study and know more about legislation that affects their families and homes. Mrs. Heldt told how bills are passed in Harrisburg, how they are placed with committees, etc. She added that since women have the right of franchise better polling places are in evidence, and "there is less corruption where women have a hand."

Influx of Pupils Is A Problem For Directors

The influx of additional pupils to Bristol Township is causing a serious handicap, according to report to the Bristol Township board of school directors, last evening.

The new bus, which has been ordered, has not yet arrived, and delivery is expected within a week or ten days.

Minor repairs to buildings were reported.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS TO PRESENT A FARCE

Three-Act Play To Be Given In High School Auditorium

DATES ARE NOV. 17, 18

Is it a party?
No!
Is it a game?
No!
Is it a holiday?

No! Guess Again! That's it—"Guess Again," the title of the three-act farce to be presented in the high school auditorium, November 17th and 18th, by high school students.

Interest and eager expectancy are felt throughout the student body of the Bristol high school as the time for the play's presentation draws near. Committees are busily working on scenery, properties, tickets, and advertising.

There are rumors that well-known sophomores, juniors and seniors may be seen taking new roles in a very convincing way. Can you picture William Fry and Thomas Collier as Bertie Blodgett and Lord Wiggletton, two Englishmen; Herman Corn as Sol Messner, a movie magnate who gets his foreign accents slightly mixed; Evelyn Plagg as Lulu Perkins, a columnist; Gladys Weik as Renee Lamour, one of Hollywood's most ambitious "gold-diggers"; Cherubino Rossi as "Soak-Em-Hard" Pratt, a hard-hearted banker; William Lynch as Mr. Grimes, a poor hotel proprietor; John Warren as Waldo Flitts, a general nuisance of a porter; Charlotte Strauss as Mrs. Skinner, a Victorian lady of forty; Betty Somers as Mrs. Skinner's daughter, Dora Mae, a twentieth-century daughter; Mary Watson as Olive Ordway, a health faddist; Anna Ennis as Janet Moore, a "working her way through college" girl; Harry Enry as Bill Douglas, also a financially embarrassed collegian; and Myrtle Collier as Marcella Jenks, a journalistic girl wonder?

It will be a real surprise when you see John Warren carrying out his boast that he can play any part ever invented, and Mary Watson teaching the "Uplift Walk." It will be more than a surprise when you see what a perfect evening's entertainment "Guess Again" will give you.

Mrs. Audrey W. Hibbs Dies; Ill Long Time

YARDLEY, Nov. 4.—Mrs. Audrey Worthington Hibbs, wife of Thomas A. Hibbs, and daughter of the late Jonathan Knowles, of Brownsburg, Pa., will be buried Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her home on Canal street. She died Wednesday night after a lengthy illness, in her 66th year.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Hibbs is survived by six sons, Herbert, of Morrisville; Lester, Norman, John, Irvin and Clarence; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Bryan, of Trenton; a brother, Joseph Knowles, of Trenton; a sister, Mrs. Mary Stradling, of Brownsburg, and 12 grandchildren.

REPUBLICANS RALLY AT MORRISVILLE; HEAR SPEAKERS

John Chidsey, Easton, Tells of Industry Leaving His Town Because of Taxes

HUGE DEBT INCURRED

Other Speakers Discuss New Deal Measures and Tell of Effect On The People

MORRISVILLE, Nov. 4.—Telling of one particular manufacturing firm in his home-town of Easton whose taxes had leaped from $6000 before the Earle administration, to $38,000 last year, John Chidsey addressed a large gathering at the meeting sponsored by Morrisville Republicans last evening.

This Easton alderman introduced the large gathering which filled the community house, that the firm in question is now moving to the "Carolinas." The large number of firms which have been forced to leave the city of Easton, with many of them moving South, was brought to the attention of the men and women present, by Mr. Chidsey, who then continued to tell of the large debt piled up by the state.

A number of men addressed the gathering, with William H. Howell serving as chairman of the evening. Neal Nolan, president of Morrisville Republican Club, presented Thomas B. Stockham to the gathering, who in turn introduced the speakers.

Among those speaking were: A. Harry Clayton, Bucks County Republican chairman; Wilson L. Yenickel, Perkaskie, and Mr. Stockham, candidates for re-election to the state assembly; James E. Groome, Yardley, president of Bucks County Firemen's Association; Howard I. James, Esq., Bristol, candidate for Pennsylvania state senate; Charles H. Buckius, Mr. Gretna, former district engineer of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways; and Mr. Chidsey.

Mr. Buckius, a most enthusiastic speaker, gave some data on "the more abundant life" as fostered under the present administration. He gave figures which tended to show that the average family has much less to live on today than before the time of the New Deal. The average wage for the head of a family before the years of the New Deal was quoted at $1300, while today it is given at $1000. "Many of the WPA workers are complaining that they are held to 10 cents a meal for their families, with nothing left over for accumulation for the future. That is the 'more abundant life,' with the people being robbed of everything," added Mr. Buckius.

The expenditures of the state were discussed at length by this Mr. Gretna resident, who added that little of it reaches the workers, "but stays in the hands of the drones, the hangers-on. Labor and industry are being ruined by the whole set-up."

Charles L. Gerlach, candidate for United States Congress, arrived during the meeting, and was introduced.

In his remarks Mr. Stockham brought out the fact that one of the speakers of the evening was taking the place on the program assigned to David Perry, a Republican member of the "white-wash" committee. Mr. Stockham told that Mr. Perry, with others of the committee, had to remain in Harrisburg last evening, then he told of some of the things unearthed by said committee.

Mary Spangler Has A Most Interesting Party

Mary Spangler, Monroe street, entertained a number of friends at a masked party, Wednesday evening. Prizes were won by Josephine Tosti, last to be guessed. Dolores Walter and Regina Bonner, drawing contest; Rose Marie Moore and Joan David, peanut hunt; and Madeline Sophie Alpin, best solo.

Refreshments were served to: Rose Marie Moore, Jean Conca, Dolores Walter, Josephine Tosti, Doris Morgan, Joan David, Charlotte Ann Heilman, Mary Jane Finney, Elaine Saranzak, Regina Bonner, Helen Bowe, Betty Jane Walsh, Rose Marie Strong, Betty Donnelly, Madeline Sophie Alpin, Gloria Uytreda, Sara Ellen Scull, Ellen Patterson.

Dr. Ivor Griffith Is Speaker at Exchange Club

Dr. Ivor Griffith, dean of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, was the guest speaker when the Bristol Exchange Club met at the Elks' Home. A total attendance of 64 persons heard Dr. Griffith talk on the morals of the home and the duties of bringing up a child. The meeting was a joint meeting with the Morrisville club.

The speaker, who is well known in educational circles, pointed out that the environment has much to do with the start that a child gets. Bad environment may cause him to fail in school, according to Griffith.

Methods whereby the teacher can aid the child overcome these handicaps were discussed by Dr. Griffith.

SHORTAGE IN SKILLED HELP

The unemployment situation has its ups and downs, but never quite comes to a pass satisfactory to everybody. Mostly the problem involves a plethora of job applicants and a dearth of jobs. It is a novel experience for students of the subject to come across such a statement as that from Dr. Carl Norcross of the New York State education department, who announces that American airplane factories are facing an acute shortage in skilled help in the event that Congress approves additional expenditures for military planes.
For every plane in the air, whether military or commercial, ten men are necessary for ground service. Training to maintain a continual supply of men for this work has not kept pace with the fast growing needs. Military and civic and private aviation schools are increasing in number, and offer to young men education for a field in which there are more jobs than men qualified to take them. Here seems to be a rare opportunity for youths with a mechanical turn of mind.

NATIVE VICTUALS

Gourmets are notoriously finicky persons, dainty and delicate tasters, abhorrent of the lusty and uninhibited enjoyment of eating which has been celebrated most recently by the versatile and loquacious Lin Yutang in his Enjoyment of Living. The professional gourmet does not take his place at the table for the purpose of partaking regularly and necessarily of fuel for the human engine, like the rest of us, but to exercise his function as a critic. Like all critics, he becomes so engrossed in the details of his job that he tends at times to be specious and peevish.
Take Major James Poud, for example, and his plant at the last meeting of the Gourmet Society in New York. As lecture manager he is one of the nation's champion travelers, and he objects to his inability to find native dishes on their native heath.
It may be true, for all we know, that this gentleman, who calls himself "a crank on food," had to be content with canned orange juice in Florida, and canned salmon at Bar Harbor. As for the rest of the complaint that one cannot find native dishes in their native heath, it is only the expression of one man's experience, from which it would be unfair to draw a conclusion.

An umbrella of new handy design may be folded away in lady's purse with the compact lipstick and cigaret lighter. Thus the whole lot may be mislaid together.

A poll of New York public opinion shows Lehman and Dewey running 50-50. No one will win in a walk, says Gallup.

Finally Mr. Mason rigged up a boardwalk and laid pieces of apple on it moving the apple slices closer toward him so as to assure the handsome visitor until his left hand could grasp the bird.

The most thrilling part of the catch which consisted of inveigling the macaw until he was thrust into a bag and later released into a cage, took place when the macaw let go a terrifying scream as Mr. Mason grabbed him by the leg.

Mr. Mason, who sang on the operatic stage for years and must know all the temperamental moods of prima donnas, never coped with a temperamental macaw until Saturday.

That Mr. Macaw was in fine temper is demonstrated when, becoming enraged about his capture, he snapped at a clothes pin and bit it in half.

Minus License, Hunter Pays $20 Fine and Costs

along Lower State Road, and his brother's hunting coat and hunter's license were lying beside him in the car.

Deputy Game Protector Freas testified that the defendant, who wore his brother's hunting clothes, was identified by another hunter as hunting with three other men.

When the arrest was made there were five men in the car, four guns and four hunters' licenses. Officer Freas testified a pheasant was lying on the floor of the car and that all the hunters' licenses checked. The defendant had no hunter's license and denied he had been hunting.

Officer Freas, who called the young man's home in Philadelphia, was told over the telephone that "Thomas is hunting and won't be back until six o'clock this evening," by someone who answered the telephone in the defendant's home.

Deputy Douglass Cail, of Philadelphia, who assisted Officer Freas in the arrest, corroborated the testimony. According to the Deputy Game Protector, a gun was found standing beside the defendant in the automobile, although the defendant said his father, who was a member of the hunting party, used two guns, one for the morning and the other for the afternoon when he became tired.

Testifying in his own behalf, the defendant said his brother left his hunter's coat in the car. "I knew that I was going out into the country, so I thought I would wear my brother's hunting clothes," said the defendant. "I wasn't hunting. The two guns belonged to my father. My father put the one gun between us in the front seat. I was just walking about in the field. My dad shot the pheasant. The mud on my shoes and clothing was gotten by my brother on Monday when he was out hunting," said the defendant.

During the hearing Officer Freas made another telephone call to the defendant's home and was told by the defendant's mother, who answered, that "Louis," a brother of the defendant, was out hunting.

The defendant, who also called his home in Philadelphia, and spoke to his mother, said that his mother did not say Louis was out hunting, but that he went to the garage to see about a car. When Justice of the Peace Hobensack spoke to the defendant's mother on the telephone she told him she didn't know where her son, Louis, had gone.

in the country as a whole, it is, of course, natural that this situation should be extremely distasteful to Administration leaders. It is natural, too, that they should resent any effort to bring the facts out in the open—because once that is fully done, the question of "why" has to be answered: Why has the New Deal acquired Communist support and why is it impossible for them to shake it off? To that there is exactly one answer—the Communists are convinced that the New Deal moves in their direction. They say so in their speeches and in their press. They are so sure the way to bring about Communism or the chaos that precedes Communism, in this country, is to continue the New Deal in power that they have abandoned everything else to its support and are Mr. Roosevelt's most ardent though unwanted supporters.

CLEARLY, a general appreciation of this undeniable fact would be more politically damaging to the New Deal than anything else. Once let the people get it in their heads that the New Deal plays the Communist game and the days of the New Deal are numbered. Mr. Roosevelt would be left with his relief organization, his colored voters, his left-wing progressives, his job-holders, the C.I.O. and little else. Realization of this danger is why the suggestion of Communist alliance arouses such deep New Deal indignation. It is why the political strategists shake with fury every time Mr. Browder makes a speech eulogizing the President or the Daily Worker commends the Roosevelt program.

AT bottom, it is why the Dies committee, which has been bringing out the facts about the Communist saturation of the C.I.O., with which Mr. Roosevelt unquestionably is allied and to which he is under obligations for financial and political support, has been so bitterly denounced by New Deal spokesmen; why it was deemed necessary to go to such unprecedented lengths to discredit Mr. Dies. The futile struggles of the New Dealers to get loose from their Communist support, their anger at its outspoken nature and their indignation when it is referred to, might be amusing if there were any other answer to that question of "Why?"

ON THE SCREENS

A charming, heartbreakingly human comedy drama about life in a musical family of lovely daughters, occasionally ruffled by the masculine world outside, "Four Daughters," which opened yesterday at the Grand Theatre, is one of the finest pictures ever made, and one of which the entire motion picture industry must be justifiably proud. Based on a story by Fannie Hurst from which Julius J. Epstein and Lenore Coffey wrote the screen play, the picture has all the ingredients that make for grand cinema—superb acting, the inspired direction of Michael Curtiz and exquisite photography.

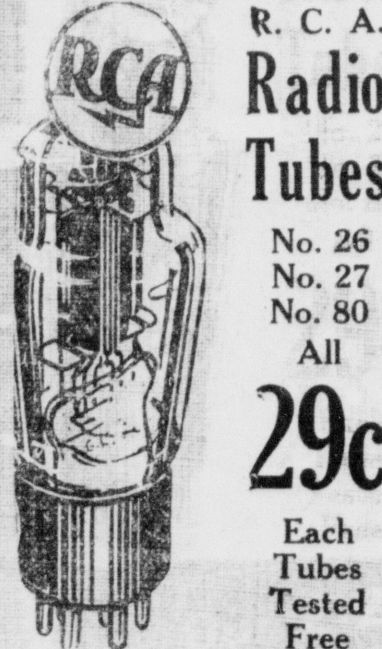

A marvelous meaningful character played by John Garfield, recently of the Broadway stage, is one of the greatest contributions the film offers to screen history. He is a fascinating fatalist, reckless, poor and unhappy, who is insufferably rude to everybody, except Priscilla Lane (whom he loves), and who assumes as a matter of course that all of Fate's cards are stacked against him. The picture is also a triumph for Priscilla Lane, who is animated, attractive and intelligent and infuses her role of the youngest daughter with a deep and human warmth, for Jeffrey Lynn, another screen newcomer, destined to set feminine hearts a-flutter, and who knows how to be handsome without being offensive.

BRISTOL

Four mystery dramas have placed John Howard's portrayal of "Bulldog Drummond" among the most famous detectives of motion picture history. His familiar characterization of the easy-going but relentless amateur sleuth ranks in the minds of moviegoers everywhere with Clive Brook's "Sherlock Holmes," Edward Arnold's "Nero Wolfe," William Powell's "Philo Vance" and Warner Oland's "Charlie Chan."

"Bulldog Drummond," the character created by H. C. "Sapper" McNeile, the popular mystery writer, is portrayed by Howard for the fourth time in "Bulldog Drummond in Africa," a story of a one-man roundup of a gang of international spies, which will have its first local showing today at the Bristol Theatre. Originally "Drummond" was given life by Ronald Colman, who played him in two films. Later he was portrayed by Ray Milland and, finally, by Howard, who acted "Drummond" before in "Bulldog Drummond Comes Back," "Bulldog Drummond's Revenge" and "Bulldog Drummond's Peril."

The distinguishing characteristics of the McNeile hero are his uncommonly good looks, his sense of humor, which prevents his ever becoming ruffled, his defiance of all governmental authority when working on a case and his inability ever to get to the altar with his fiancée, "Phyllis Claverling."

FOUR GRID BATTLES ARE BOOKED FOR THIS WEEK-END

Fallsington, Langhorne, Morrisville and Bensalem Are To Be Active

ALL CONFERENCE GAMES

Evenly Matched Rivals Will Entangle in Close Contests

Of the quartet of grid battles listed for this week-end among Lower Bucks County League schools, two of them will be conference frays, one of which will be played this afternoon and the other tomorrow.

The schools involved in the league battles are Fallsington and Langhorne today, and Morrisville and Bensalem tomorrow while both Newtown and Bristol will take to the road to encounter a pair of Montgomery County eleven on the same consecutive afternoons, respectively.

With this set-up, evenly matched rivals will entangle in close contests on at least three fronts with a possibility of Bensalem offering the highly-rated Bulldogs from Morrisville more opposition than many people think.

The Langhorne-Fallsington struggle is the leading topic of conversation among Lower Bucks grid fans, who follow the scholastic ranks. The Redskins opened their bid for the 1938 conference laurels last week when they dropped a 20-0 decision to Bristol, whom they met in the first of a series of five straight conference games which will wind up with their Thanksgiving Day battle with Newtown.

Last year Langhorne sported a fine record until they opened their conference season, and then they dropped tilts to both Morrisville and Bensalem after being held to a 6-6 tie with Fallsington. When Langhorne lost to Bristol last week, they again marred a good record. And now, with their conference campaign in full swing, will they again lose their early season prestige as they did last year?

Fallsington was a weak club last year but fought to a 6-6 deadlock with the Redskins at Fallsington. Furthermore, Mike DeRisi's boys hope to avenge an early season setback Langhorne handed them at Fallsington, 7-0. But, playing on the home field, Langhorne has the edge to cop the verdict.

In the other conference battle to be waged tomorrow afternoon on the Bensalem Owls' field, the Jorri-Alle Bulldogs are expected to have a rather easy afternoon with a light and weak Blue and Gray outfit. However, the Golden Wave and the public may be fooled. For while the Bulldogs may be a bit too cocky over the tilt, the Owls will be fighting for every inch.

Coach George Reimer says himself he doesn't expect to win (neither does anyone else for that matter), but, nevertheless, he expects his crew to give the Bulldogs a tougher afternoon than they expect from the Owls.

Bensalem's pass defense may stop the Bulldogs' ozone attack, but their weak line appears to offset this defensive strength, and Jim Yeager and his band may find many a gapping hole through which to gallop for big gains.

At the same time, however, the Owls have an aerial attack that may catch the Bulldogs off guard, too, if they aren't alert.

Coach Allan Tomlinson's Newtown Indians hope to get "off the dime" as it were after two weeks of idleness due to an open date in the schedule and rain when they clash with the strong Bryn Athyn Academy outfit this afternoon on the Churchmen's home lot.

The Bishops have already taken the measure of two LBCL schools when they topped Bristol, 14-6, and Bensalem 27-6. And so they hope to add the Indians' scalp as number three from this section. But following a two weeks' lay-off, the Indians may not be in the best of shape to face this stiff opponent, and the fact that they play away doesn't help them any, either. But, while Bryn Athyn beat Bensalem, 27-6, Newtown beat the same club, 27-14, so if scores mean anything, they should give the Academy boys plenty of opposition in this tilt. Nevertheless, the Bishops have the edge to win this one.

In the other non-league tussle, Bristol High will journey out to Bridgeport with three consecutive victories under their belts hoping to add the Dragons as victim number four. On the other hand, the Maroon and White outfit has copped their last two contests and they anticipate extending their winning ways to the number at which they hope to stop Bristol. Both clubs have improved greatly in their last few games and should, therefore, be at top flight for this contest. But beside the desire to beat the Dragons on their own lot, the Cardinals also have aspirations of smashing their uncrossed goal line such as they did against Trenton Catholic and Langhorne.

Two years ago Bristol beat Bridgeport on the latter's field, 16-7; while last year, the Dragons won on the Cards' field, 2-0. So, in another fierce struggle, the Dragons have a slight edge to take this fray.

BUCKINGHAM WINS SOCCER CHAMPIONSHIP

BUCKINGHAM, Nov. 4.—For the second straight year coach Clyde Skillman and his Buckingham Buccaneers became Bucks County's soccer kings when they tripped New Hope High here yesterday afternoon, 4-1. And for the same period of time they have captured the championship of the Lower Bucks County League and thus hold a monopoly on the title since the league has been organized for a period of only two years.

Buckingham's passing attack was almost superb, their defense play was better than ever, and their offensive attack spoke for itself as the Bucks rolled up four tallies to equal this year's single game scoring record previously held by Richboro when they counted a quartet of tallies against the same club earlier in the season.

The line-ups:

Periods:
New Hope 0 0 0 0-1
Buckingham 1 1 1 1-4
Goals: D. Kooker, Downs, Horton, Prawdzik, Erwin. Time of periods: 12 minutes.

Final Standings of Lower Bucks County Soccer League for 1938:

	Won	Lost	Tied	Pts.
Buckingham	5	1	0	10
Richboro	3	2	1	7
Southampton	2	2	1	5
New Hope	1	5	0	2

What the crushing impact of the Lewis heel would do to Pennsylvania, if the C.I.O. head were to have a Governor under his thumb, what it would mean in industrial strife, in violence, unemployment and destitution, is not difficult to imagine. NO BLACKER FUTURE COULD BE DRAWN FOR PENNSYLVANIA THAN THAT OF LEWIS CONTROL.

Jones' election would glorify John L. Lewis, but it would mean much to the other board members too. It would restore to Joe Guffey the purple of political power snatched from him in the primary, would permit him to work hand-in-glove with John L. Lewis in building an immense political machine in Pennsylvania and would make Boss Guffey the spokesman at Washington in all the vital matters affecting Pennsylvania's interests.

And to that pair of money-lenders, the gold-dust twins, Matt McCloskey and Albert M. Greenfield, Jones' election would be like a glittering toy to a three-year-old. They have found the administration of George ("Brother, can you spare a wad?") Earle extremely to their liking. George Earle, whether hat in hand or in full flight from the Grand Jury, always looks good to McCloskey and Greenfield. But even more attractive, conceivably, would be a Governor built on the Milquetoast lines of Charles Alvin Jones. With a little marionette of their own dancing to their orders at Harrisburg, the wildest dreams of political power of McCloskey and Greenfield might come true.

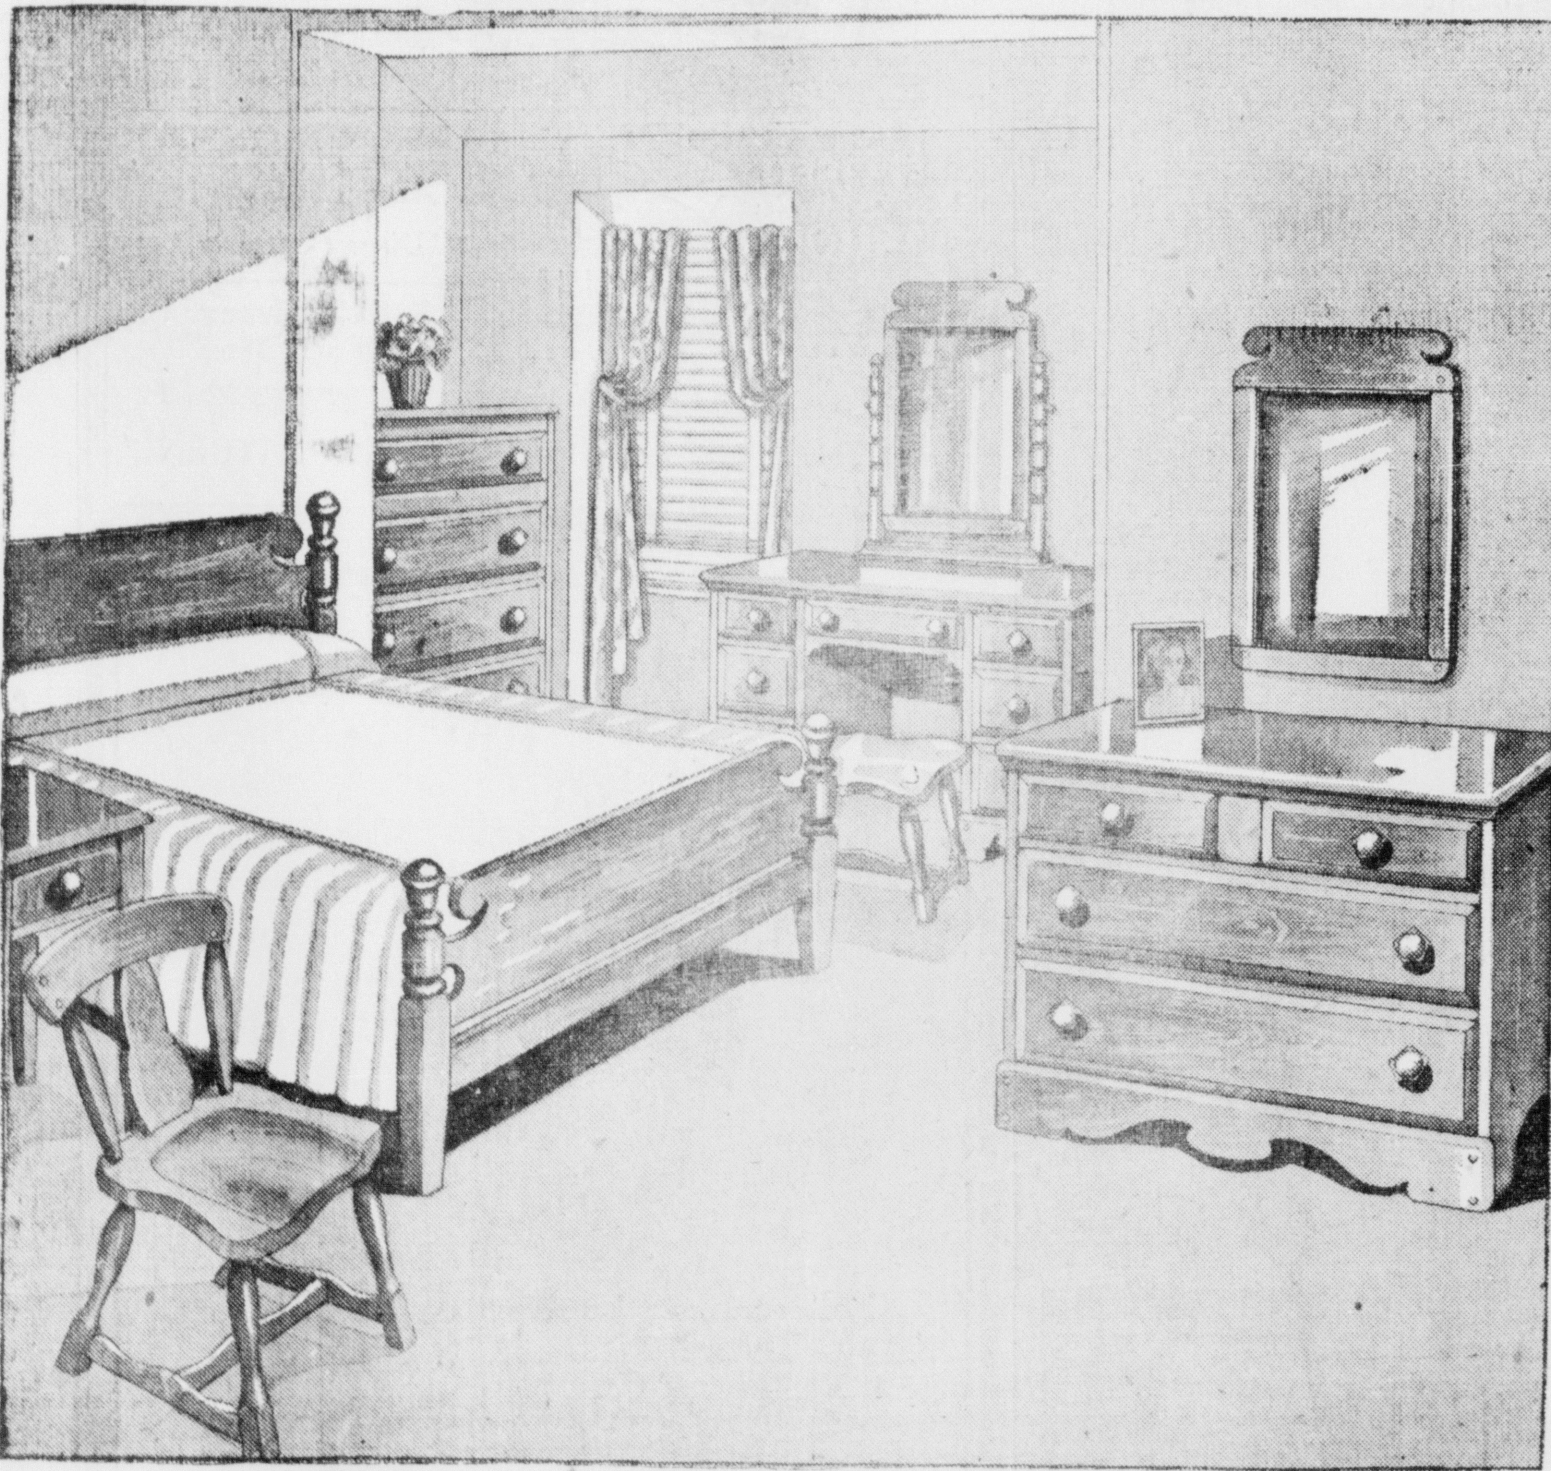

THE ONE WAY TO SHATTER THE DREAMS OF THE GOLD-DUST TWINS, MILLIONAIRE McCLOSKEY AND MILLIONAIRE GREENFIELD; TO KEEP LEWIS RULE OUT OF PENNSYLVANIA AND TO KICK JOE GUFFEY INTO DISCARD, IS TO VOTE ARTHUR H. JAMES INTO THE GOVERNORSHIP.

Judge James' election will mean the final adjournment of the Bosses' Board of Directors; it will mean an end to the threat of puppet government controlled by John L. Lewis; it will mean the dawning of an era of prosperity and contentment for Pennsylvania.
